

Speech and Language Developmental Milestones: When To Be Concerned and What to Do

September 15, 2020 from 5:30-6:30 PM via ZOOM

Join pediatric speech-language pathologist Jennifer Watson for a discussion that will include the following:

- An understanding of speech and language developmental milestones by age
- When to pursue outside support for a child's speech and language skills
- Learn about available services if you are concerned about their skill development
- Ideas and activities to promote speech and language skill development

Often caregivers feel that something just "isn't quite right" with their child's ability to communicate their needs to others. What communication skills should your child have mastered? And when should they have mastered them?

This presentation will support you in determining if you should be concerned and what steps you should take in making sure your child receives the support that they need.

Register by emailing cbiondi@capecodchildrensplace.com or call the Cape Cod Children's Place at (508) 240-3310 for additional questions or family support needs.

Jennifer Watson is a Speech-Language Pathologist with 25 years of experience. Having worked in Early Intervention in the public schools, where she supported children and families in accessing services, she recently re-launched her private speech and language therapy practice at her home office in Harwich, utilizing telehealth as well. Jennifer holds her Certificate of Clinical Competence from the American Speech Language Hearing Association, as well as her certification to practice speech pathology privately in MA.

This programming is funded by a SAFE Child Communities grant through the Children's Trust and a Coordinated Family and Community Engagement (CFCE) grant from the MA Dept. of Early Education and Care, administered by the Cape Cod Children's Place.
