

Understanding the Individualized Education Plan (IEP): The Importance of Your Role as a Caregiver

October 6, 2020 5:30-6:30 PM via ZOOM

Join pediatric Speech-Language Pathologist, Jennifer Watson for an hour of rich dialogue.

It's the start of a brand new school year and a lot has changed, but the importance of your role in creating an IEP that meets your child's needs hasn't.

- What can you do to get the process started if you're concerned?
- What qualifies a student for an IEP?
- Let's understand all the parts of an Individualized Education Plan (IEP)
- Who should you expect to be for your child on your special education team?
- How can you work effectively with your school system to get services that you feel are necessary for your child to be successful in school?

Jennifer Watson is a Speech-Language Pathologist with 25 years of experience. Having worked in Early Intervention in the public schools, where she supported children and families in accessing services, she recently re-launched her private speech and language therapy practice at her home office in Harwich, utilizing telehealth as well. Jennifer holds her Certificate of Clinical Competence from the American Speech Language Hearing Association, as well as her certification to practice speech pathology privately in MA.

This programming is funded by a SAFE Child Communities grant through the Children's Trust and a Coordinated Family and Community Engagement (CFCE) grant from the MA Dept. of Early Education and Care, administered by the Cape Cod Children's Place.
